Colonel Polk's Reply, in Which He Emodies His Views About the Third Party-Go Slow, Mr. Oates,

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] RALEION, N. C., June 29 .- Every word written or spoken regarding the Alliance or the third party is now given close attention in North Carolina. Colonel L. L. Polk, the president of the National Alliance, will in to-morrow's issue of his papaper, the Progressice Farmer, discuss Congressman Oates's attack on the Alliance. esident Polk heads the editorial "Congressman Oates Raises the Black Flag against the Alliance." He copies the following telegram from Washington: FIGHT THE ALLIANCE.

"Representative Oates, of Alabama, who is an old-fashioned Democrat of the most uncompromising sort, takes a very serious view of the Alliance movement in the South. Speaking to-day he said that he thought that the southern Democrats were too timid and trustful in dealing with the Alliance, and that they did not fully appreciate the seriousness of the situation. "Too many of our folks," he said. " are twing to make friends with the Alliance in hopes of holding their own hereafter. They but deceive themselves. The Alliance folks are not fooled but our people are compromised. The fact is just this; We have got to fight the Alliance right out ance folks are not fooled but our neople are compromised. The fact is just this: We have got to fight the Alliance right out with all our might or it will get the best of us in the South. No man can believe in the sub-Treasury and land-loan schemes and claim to be a Democrat. The line must be drawn sharply and at once. The Alliance is now in the minority, but it is organized well and our people are weakening themselves by cutting shy of the fight. What we must do is to organize against the Alliance and beat it out of existence. If we do not it will beat us, though we are in the majority.

'In every Democratic convention-for "In every Democratic convention—for it is in these conventions that the Alliance seeks to get control—a resolution should be offered condemning the sub-Treasury scheme as unconstitutional and undemocratic. If this resolution is voted down the convention is an Alliance and not a Democratic convention and the Democrate should retire and hold a convention elsewhere. This plan of separating the Democrats from the Farmers' Alliance should be followed in every State in the South." THE THIRD PARTY.

THE THEO PARTY.

President Polk's comments on this are as follows, and as it is the first official declaration from him on the third party question it will be read with peculiar interest:

"We publish the above for the information of those of our membership who have been so often told that the leaders of the Democracy are our friends. We publish it that they may see the tendency. The programme of this great (?) leader is to fight the Alliance right out with all our might. He is advocating the third party by flying out of a convention where they are out-voted by the Alliance and organize independent action. Well, we have become accustomed to that sort of thing. We remember the third party movement by those disgruntled politicians, in some of the States last year. In Georgia and South Carolina, where the Alliance outnumbered the politicians, the latter (after a solemn agreement to abide by the rule of the majority) bolted the conventions and the nominations and put out candidates against those who had been regularly nominated.

"And all the while these same men and their papers were claiming to be opposed to a third party. The only third party that has thus far been brought forward in the South has come from such men as Mr. Outes, He wants the Democrats to take im-mediate steps to separate themselves from the Alliance. Better be a little slow, Mr. the Alliance. Better be a little slow, Mr. Oates. That separation, if brought about by your plan, might leave what you call the Democratic party in a bad plight. The Alliance will note the spirit and temper of the arrogant and domineering and intelerant politician. If the Alliance is, to be driven and buildozed in the manner indicated, or if it be attempted, somebody will learn something. 'Whom the gois would destroy they first make mad.' So Mr. Oates favors the establishgods would destroy they first mak So Mr. Oates favors the establish ment of a third party and wants to start it right away. Although he 'is an old-fashioned Democrat of the most uncom-promising sort,' we make some allowance for his tantrums. We remember his ugly record on the sub-Treasury plan."

ALWAYS UP. No paper has kept up more closely with the Alliance measures and political turns in North Carolina than the Disparen. Colonel Polk spoke at Goldsboro' Saturday. Peffer was expected to be there, but did not arrive. The speaking was out doors, and the number of listeners was very large. Some persons had an idea that the Third Party in North Carolina was to be set on its feet at this meeting, but such a course was not followed.

President Polk, in the course of his speech at Goldsboro', said:

"The trouble is, the farmers have not attended to their business as veters, but are working simply for existence. Is this as God intended it? The movement of the Alliance will go on, no matter what becomes of the leaders." He denied that he desired to become President of the United States, and he declared that he now held the greatest office in America. He stood by the Ocala Democrats—every one of them. Those who oppose any principles of the Alliance will have to get out and join the enemy.

SOMETHING ELSE.

SOMETHING ELSE. SOMETHING ELSE.

The only way to get the sub-Treasury bill out of politics is to get something else that will give relief. Until something better is offered the Albance will stand by better is offered the Albance will stand by the sub-Treasury plan world without end. If the third party is to be established in the South it will be because of the domineer-ing, intolerant, and unreasonable action of the politicians of the Democratic party. The Alliance is for its principle and will favor any man who is with it and oppose any man who is against it. Congressman-elect Watson, of Georgia, followed Polk, and declared that North Carolina and Georgia Alliance men are fighting under Georgia Alliance men are fighting under STRICKEN CHEROKEE. Governor Boies Asks for This and Other Deluged Iowa Towns.

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.] CHEROKEE, IOWA, June 29.—Governor Boies arrived in this city this morning, and after surveying the flooded district issued the following proclamation: To the People of the State of Iowa:

To the People of the State of Ione:

"You have heard of the affliction which has fallen upon some of the towns of our State. I have made a personal examination of the facts in this city by coming here and going over the flooded districts, and find that at least seventy-five families have iost everything and some twenty-five more have lost most of their household goods and much of their clothing, while their dwellings have been greatly injured by the floods. In addition to this loss of goods and much of their clothing, while their dwellings have been greatly injured by the floods. In addition to this ioss of homes and furniture and clothing, the country at large has suffered greatly in the loss of nearly every bridge, both iron and wooden, within its limits. A careful estimate places the number of families which require help at once at 100, thus making a population of about 500 that require and will require for a considerable length of time to be cared for by the charity of our people. In addition to the above, many of the surrounding towns have also suffered greatly and will necessarily be compelled to appeal to the people of the State for aid. In view of this calamity I recommend that the mayors of the cities of the State and all other charitably-disposed persons immediately take steps to organize proper committees to solicit and for these unfortunates and see that the same is promptly forwarded to David H. Elsewards of the state of the crows other towns which have shirteness so for-same calamity. All contributions so for-warded will be faithfully applied to the purpose for which they are sent. Let con-tributions be prompt and liberal. "Horace Boies. "Governor of Iowa."

THE TAR-HEELS WIN.

THE CRACK CLUB FROM WINSTON DE-FEATS THE RICHMOND BOYS. By Good Batting and Quick Movemen

They Manage to Keep Well Ahead-

The Game in Detail. The Richmond base-ball team which met the Winston (N. C.) "Blues" in the diamond at Island Park yesterday afternoon oon realized that the "tar-heels" could manipulate the sphere and handle the bat in a manner which made them grave-aw-

The Carolinians were a sturdy-looking set of big-legged fellows who meant business, and what was more ominous, they brought with them an ebon-colored "Mas-cot," who wore a linen duster and evi-dently felt that his presence was essential to visitors.

ALL ENJOYED THE FUS.

About four hundred good-natured, jocose, don't-give-a-continental lovers of the game were present, and gave expression to conflicting emotions by the usual groans, yells, grunts, and other unearthly noises
which are part and parcel of the national game. The "tar-heel" constituency, though in the minority, were vociferous and energetic, and would have been disposed to kick had not Lonnie Graves shown that he knew whereof he spoke when he waved his hand like Ariadne on the seastrand to call the players in, or turned cat-out-of-skin to settle an abstruse point
in base-hall philosophy.

The "Blues" were heavier men than the Richmond boys and seemed in better practice, but notwithstanding this they did not beat them by a "simple twist of the wrist." but had to play ball to do so.

The game opened with the Richmonds at the bat, but under unfavorable constellations, for Kane, Luck, and Enright were successively retired on short-hits in the
in-field. ALL ENJOYED THE PUN.

SENT IT OVER THE FENCE. When the Winstons took the stick McGann was retired on a short hit, which was captured by Kane, who hurled the sphere to Disney. Farrell next grasped the club and alarmed the Richmonders by a beautiful fly over the left-fielder's head,
which gave him an opportunity to cross the plate on a home run amidst great applanse. Liston then followed with a pretty single but was caught at third, while Sands struck out, thus ending the inning, and showing the Virginians that they had no easy fight before them.
At the end of the second inning the Old Domnion boys doubtless yearned for
"sackcloth and ashes," for their guests added two more runs to the score, while they were still not "in it."
In the third and fourth minings neither team scored, but in the fifth the vocal organs of the spectators were brought into play when the home-players scored two runs, while the visitors failed to add to their number. When the Winstons took the stick Me

Things looked exciting, and continued to look so for just about five minutes—that is to say, until the Carolinians got their whack at the horse hide, and made four more runs. Then the Richmond contingent's faces became banana-shaped in length, and an undertaker-like gravity overspread their countenances. "Hope lingering, fied," and despair pervaded everything. their countenances. Hope fied," and despair pervaded everything. The seventh inning failed to relieve the mental anguish of the home team and the anxiety of the "Blues," and at the end of the eighth things stood just the same.

PLAYED WELL BUT TOO LATE. But such sonorous lungs, such vigor But such sonorous lungs, such vigor of vocal power, and such enthusiasm as the spectators assembled possessed could not long go unrewarded.

When the Virgunias took the bat in the ninth inning they had but little hope and were decidedly downhearted. Kane made thingslook bluer by fanning the wind. Luck cheered them up with a beautiful two-bag-ger and scored by the catcher dropping the ball.

Enright got to first by another error of Enricht got to first by snother error of the catcher, stole second and advanced to third by Wade's fumbling Foster's ball, and scored on Leftwitch's hit to Farrell, which was beautifully stopped, but badly thrown to first. Leftwich stole second, but could not get further as Kerse, the "cap," fanned the wind, while Morgan imitated his illus-trious example, thus ending the game.

"It is sweet and glorious to die for one's country" (so some people say), but, oh, 'tis so much sweeter to whoop at base-ball, and the departing crowd took this last op-portunity to get in their work in this line. portunity to get in their work in this line. CLUBS EVENLY MATCHED.

The Carolinians and Richmonders are pretty evenly matched, though the former pretty evenly matched, though the former may perhaps have the best battery. At any rate, Manager Donati is going to make things uncomfortable for the strangers to-day by putting Daly and Broek, of Balti-more, in the box. The game will be a good one, for the Richmonders want to retrieve their laurels, while the "Blues," like Alexander, sigh for more worlds to con-

HIS CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

in Richmond in Thirty Days.

On Saturday afternoon, says the Norfolk Virginian, Captain Cranmer deposited $500 with the Virginian. This was in acceptance of a challenge published in the Virginian from William E. Hurst, offering to shoot one hundred birds with anybody in the State, Captain Cranmer preferred, for a purse of from $100 to $500. Mr. Hurst placed a forfeit of $50 with the Virginian. This challenge is thought to be the outcome of the shooting-match near here some time ago, at which both participated. Captain Cranmer's letter accepting the challenge is a follows: New York June 26, 1891.

Editor Norfolk Virginian: Dear Sir,—In your issue of 24th instant (a copy of which has just been handed me) I notice a challenge from Mr. W. E. Hurst, which seems to be specially intended for me. In order to avoid any misunderstanding, I deem it advisable to state plainly under what rules and conditions I will shoot him a match. For $500 a side, at 100 birds, from one trap or five; 30 yards rise; 80 yards boundary; to use either one or two barrels; the dead line 10 feet behind the shooter, and no restrictions as to the the shooter, and no restrictions as to the holding of the gun.

As I am the challenged party I claim the holding of the gun.

As I am the challenged party I claim the right of naming the shooting-ground, and would name the city of Richmond, Va.: the shoot to be made under the management of the Richmond Gun Club, they to select both referee and stakeholder. As an evidence of my intentions you will find enclosed the sum of $500, which is to remain open until July 3d, 12 o'clock noon. If covered by or previous to that time you will please remit a certified check to Folk Miller, Esq., Richmond, Va., President Richmond Gun Club. The match to be shot in thirty days from date, or as soon before as the birds can be secured. In case of a tie, the affair to be decided same day by each contestant shooting twenty-five extra birds.

If the above conditions do not meet with Mr., Hurst's approval I will shoot him, Modified Hurlingham Rules (and, by the way, these are the rules that govern nine tenths of the pigeon contests in this country to-day), for the same amount, $500, and allow him $25 expenses to Richmond, I would say in conclusion, that if my $500 is not covered, the lovers of trap-shooting can very readily distinguish who is the most eager to shoot, Mr. Hurst or myself. Respectfully.

H. L. Caamera.

THE HAMMERMEN OF EDINBURGH An Industrial Organization That Held Power for Centuries.

A very old organization of skilled trade A very old organization of skilled trades is that of the Corporation of Hammermen in the ancient Scotch city of Edinburgh. It was founded over three centuries ago and is still in existence. Originally it was a union of only a few trades, but it took in others from time to time, until, in 1753 it consisted of blacksmiths, culters, saddlers, locksmiths, lorimers, armorers, pewterers, and sheersmiths. To the locksmiths were added the watchmakers, pinmakers, hookmakers, watchmakers, pinmakers, hockmakers and gunsmiths; to the lorimers were added the belt makers, founders, braziers and coppersmiths; to the pewterers were added the white-ironsmiths or tin-men Thus there were seventeen separate craft represented in the Corporation of Hammer

Regular meetings of the corporation were convened, and the various trades also held separate meetings, at which their own business was transacted. From the origin of the corporation till the present time the meetings have always been opened with prayer, read by the clerk. The form of prayer in use was composed for the Hammermen by John Knox about the middle of the sixteenth century. Among its other passages are these: "Give us, we beseech Thee, to perceive Thee in everything we undertake; lead us through every strait; remove from us all partiality, corrupt affections, and division."

The members of the corporation ware

In old times the Hammermen helped such of their members as were in straits. For example, here is an entry that is found in the corporation records: "2d February, 1754—ordered that the masters of the several arts, between now and the next quarter, visit the poor on the roll of their several arts, and report the state of each person and their opinion of the same. person and their opinion of the same, under the penalty of half a crown each

4. A master of the English language, but an occasional rather than a regular writer for the press.

General Charles Lee, who emigrated to America in 1774 and espoused with his sword the cause of the Colonies, and became second in command to Washingtonnot only in these, but other respects, comes within the pale—was the only person suspected of writing the Junius letters who ever distinctly and emphatically avowed himself to be their author. This he did, however, in his cups and in an unguarded moment to Judge——, whose affidavit is on record.

moment to Judge —, whose affidavit is on record.

It is much easier to say who didn't write the letters than who did. An Irishman possibly might, as Burke or Charles Lloyd; no Scotchman, proud of the honor of Scotland, could have acknowledged himself to be their author. An Englishman might have written them—as Sir Philip Francis, but hardly Chatham; hardly Sackville, a Tory minister for whom a strong claim has been set up. An Englishman did write the letters—an old English Whig who asserted Whig principles in England at great risk to his personal liberty, and who fought for Whig principles in America. If this subject shall prove of interest to your many Virginia readers I will take pleasure in furnishing subtantial proofs going to show that Charles Lee had not only the right capacity for the praduction of the Junius letters, but the right motive. LADY ALEXANDRIA VICTORIA DUFF. Victoria Chief Sponser.

[By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.]
Losdon, June 29.—The Queen to-day, accompanied by a number of members of the royal family, attended the christening at the Chapel Royal, St. Jamess Palace, of the daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Fife. The Duke, it will be recalled, is the husband of the Princess Louise, oldest daughter of the Prince of Wales.

The Queen acted as chief sponser for her great-granddaughter. Among the members of the Royal family present were the Queen of Denmark, the Princess Victoria of Wales, and the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, the eldest son of the Prince of [By Anglo-American cable to the Dispa

COPENHAGEN, June 29.—The Court of Appeals to-day confirmed the sentence of death passed upon Phillipsen, the soap manufacturer who confessed April 12, 1830, that he halstrangled a clerk named Meyer, who had been missing since January 7, 1830, and admitted that he had sent Meyer's the Court of the C body to New York packed in a lime cask. Meyer's body was shipped back from New York to this city, where it arrived on May 14, 1890. Phillipsen was sentenced May 14, 1891, to suffer the death penalty, but his lawyers appealed from this sentence on the ground that Phillipsen was insane. The Court of Appeals in confirming the sen-tence passed upon the murderer also de-cided that he was not insane. Decollete.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces un-sightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scroula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient. possible features of both. Being the most ancient, It is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it. How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood

AN ESTABLISHED MANUFAC-TORY

WITH MACHINERY AND FIXTURES COM-PLETE AND NOW SUCCESSFULLY WORKING. TO BE SOLD AS A WHOLE.

COURT SALE BY AUCTION OF A VERY VALU-

H. M. SMITH & CO., IN THE CITY OF RICHMOND, VA.

By virtue of a decree of the Chancery Court of Richmond entered December 6, 1890, in the suit of "Thomas C. Bain, trustee, vs. H. M. Smith & Co.," I will as trustee and also as special com-missioner appointed for the purpose, sell by public auction, on the premises, at 12 c'clock M.. TUESDAY, JUNE 30, 1891. that DESIRABLE AND COMPLETE MANUFAC that DESIRABLE AND COMPLETE MANUFACTURING PLANT, consisting of the capacious Brick Work-Shops and Foundry, situated on the north side of Walnut alley between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets, and extending out to Franklin street, upon which there is a front of 92 feet and where there are several small stores or offices, which can be rented out separately if desired. These buildings are mostly four stories high, are strong, and well suited for factory uses, and have large floor capacity. A plat of the land will be shown by the auctioneer.

In these shops and to be sold with them are large quantities of most excellent, useful, and EXPENSIVE MACHINERY, now in daily use, and consisting in part of Engine, Boiler, Lathes, Furnaces, Shaping Machines, Drill Presses, Saws, Mortlsing- and Spoke-Machinery, Grindstones, Emery-Wheels, thousands of Patterns in iron and in wood, Patent-Rights, Trade-Marks, Forges, Blowers, Cupoia, Flasks, and in fact and an established trade, for less than one third of its value, and then you can go right on with your business on the orders now on hand and that are coming in daily.

It being impossible to give in this advertisement every detail, I earnestly invite all proposing purchasers to inspect the plant before the day of sale, promising on my part every assistance to that end.

Terms: One fourth of the purchases money in cash and the residue in three equal payments at six, twelve, and eighteen months, for notes with interest added and secured by a deed of trust; or all cash, at the option of the purchaser.
